

YOUNG WOMAN DRUGGED AND BADLY BEATEN BY AUTO THUGS

'Knockout Drops' and Brutal Assault Are Features of Crime Committed At Waikiki In Which Victim Mysteriously Disappears

HUSTACE VILLA AROUSED BY HYSTERICAL SHRIEKS

Wife of Soldier, With Face Battered and Clothing Torn To Shreds, Begs For Protection and Is Rescued From Fiends

(From Saturday Advertiser.)

KNOCKOUT drops," a brutal assault upon a young woman last night, almost, of the Moana Hotel; a mysterious disappearance of the victim and a general case of "under investigation" by the police for the past eight days, without any light being thrown upon it.

About half-past one on the morning of Thursday of last week a woman, with her face, terribly bruised from some battering fist, her clothing torn and disheveled, gasping and dazed, rapped upon the door of Hustace Villa, adjoining the Moana Hotel premises at Waikiki, and called hysterically upon Mrs. L. B. Romagosa, who answered her knock, for protection.

"Don't let them get me!" she cried, over and over again before she could be calmed down and could tell a connected story.

WIFE OF ENLISTED MAN

She said that she was Mrs. Marie-man, wife of a soldier stationed at Schofield Barracks, from whom she was suing for a divorce. Her home in Honolulu, she said, was at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. "Bob" Graham in Emma street, Graham being the proprietor of the barber shop in Alaska street, next door to the Kentucky saloon. She had called at the barber shop in order to telephone when she was met by a man named Turner, whom she had known casually for some months. This man had asked her to accompany him to see his wife, with whom he had had trouble, which, he believed, the intercession of a third party could smooth over.

He got into an automobile with Turner, who introduced her to another couple in the machine. The other man's name was O'Brien, but the woman's name she did not catch. She heard her addressed only as "Helen."

On the way to the supposed wife of Turner the machine was driven to Waikiki and into the grounds of the Waikiki Inn, where Turner invited his company to have a drink. She, the woman said, between sobs, took one glass of beer. Then she became semi-conscious, remembering nothing more definitely except that she had had a desperate fight to guard her honor.

GETS BLOW IN FACE

"I called upon my mother to save me," she told Mrs. Romagosa, "and the answer I got was this blow on my face. Your mother cannot help you now." The man said who struck me. Then he hit me again and I remember running and falling and rolling over to escape. I saw your light and that is why I ran in here. I thought some one would be up who could save me."

The condition of the woman, says Mrs. Romagosa, was pitiful. Her hair was down and filled with dust and sand burrs. Her dress was ripped to pieces. She had lost her slippers and her stockings were torn. Her legs were bleeding from scratches and her eyes had the look of one who had been drugged.

She was assured that she was safe, and an offer was made to telephone to the police. This the woman begged them not to do, stating that if it became known that she was mixed up in a disgraceful affair, such as she had unwittingly been dragged into, it would hurt her reputation and perhaps be used against her in her divorce suit. Henry Hustace then phoned for a taxi to take the woman to her home in Emma street.

TAKEN TO THE GRAHAM HOME

She was lent a cloak and veil by Mrs. Mary E. Bristol, a boarder at the villa, her own clothes being torn so badly as to make it impossible for her to go home without further covering.

She was taken to the Graham home in Emma street, back of Dr. L. B. Gaspar's office, by Chauffeur Leonard Beckley, leaving the taxi well on to three o'clock in the morning.

Allies Drive Germans Out of Altkirch

Reports From Western Battle-front Indicate That Franco-British Are Active In Alsace

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

PARIS, February 6.—The indications contained in yesterday's official announcements from the front are that a more vigorous offensive in Alsace is to be launched by the Allies, if it be not already under way.

Press dispatches from Geneva, passed by the censor, state that General von Bordingen, the staff commander of the German operations in Alsace-Lorraine, has already been driven out of Altkirch by the persistent bombardment of the place by the French airmen.

LINE FORCED BACK

He has been forced to remove his headquarters to Mulhausen, ten miles north, which city is again threatened with attack from the French forces gathered at Uffholtz, within five miles of the railroad running north from Mulhausen.

It is reported that plans for a further retreat to Freiburg, Baden, are arranged in the event of the further advance of the Allies towards the Rhine. The state papers are already being taken from Mulhausen to the Baden capital.

BIG GUN DUELING

With few exceptions the fighting from Verdun to the sea yesterday was confined to the exchange of shells from the big guns, the infantry attacks being of a minor nature.

GERMAN TRENCH TAKEN

The official communiqué issued by the war ministry yesterday said:

"Our troops have undermined and captured a trench commanding the road between Arras and Lille. We have also repulsed an attack at Bagatelle. An initial German attack gained a hundred yards, after which we made two counter attacks, regained the lost positions and won new territory. Elsewhere here are only artillery duels."

ONLY ARTILLERY DUELS

BERLIN, Germany, February 6.—Official.—"Except for a solitary and unsuccessful French attack on our positions northwest of Perthes, there are only artillery duels along the entire western front."

last that has ever been seen of the woman. She has not returned the cloak and veil borrowed. Graham, seen at his barber shop yesterday, denied any knowledge of the woman, later qualifying this denial but refusing to enter into an explanation. A second attempt last night to get information from Graham ruffled his temper and produced a choice line of crisp curses and a command to "Beat it!"

After the woman had entered the Hustace Villa, Henry Hustace went to the Moana Hotel, before which an automobile was being driven slowly up and down, as if waiting for some one.

POLICE WERE INFORMED

Hustace got the names of those in the machine—two men and a woman—and learned from the Moana watchman that he had admitted having "lost" one of their party. Because of the presence of this machine in Kalakaua avenue, Hustace directed Beckley to drive the woman home by way of the park. He recognized the car as No. 1921. It carried a miniature aeroplane on the radiator.

Hustace yesterday said that all the information he had regarding names and the number of the automobile he had turned over to the police, who did not want any publicity given to the matter.

Beckley, the chauffeur, said that he drove the woman to the Emma street address, his car being followed there by the automobile from which the woman had escaped. Seeing the other car, the woman asked him to stay for a while, evidently in fear of what might happen to her further. She plucked up courage enough, however, reports Beckley, to go over to the other car and demand that her rings be returned to her. What reply was given Beckley did not hear. Shortly afterwards the other car drove away and the woman went into her house.

SLEUTHS FINALLY ON CASE

On Thursday, a whole week after the affair had been reported to the police, Assistant Chief of Detectives Kellett happened to meet Beckley and asked him where he had taken the woman. This was the first attempt on the part of the police to get any information from Beckley.

On No. 1921, reported by Hustace to Beckley as the number of the car before the Moana, is on the police records as owned by Eddie Searle, an employee of the Schuman garage, and Turner.

CHINESE RESENT JAPAN'S DEMANDS

Senator of Celestial Assembly Says Attitude of Mikado Is Wholly Unjustifiable

(Special Cable to the Nippon Jiji.)

TOKIO, February 6.—The presentation by H. Hiron, the Japanese minister at Peking, of demands from Tokio upon China, has caused Leung Kai Chew, many years an exile in Japan and now a senator in the Chinese assembly, as well as the officials of the military circle, to express indignation over Japan's attitude.

Young, in a statement, says that "Japan's demands on China are totally unjustifiable."

This declaration by the senator is generally upheld by the Chinese press, the utterances of which are in every respect unfriendly to Japan.

Meanwhile Minister Hiroki is pressing on the Chinese foreign minister his demands for a speedy settlement. The negotiations, however, are reported as making little progress so far.

MANY LEGATIONS MAY QUIT MEXICAN CAPITAL

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, February 6.—The withdrawal of many of the legations from the City of Mexico is imminent because of increasing friction which has arisen between the Mexican and the members of the diplomatic corps. Early in the week Carranza suspended the handling of all code messages between the City of Mexico and outside points, thus preventing the ministers from communicating confidentially with their governments. This was the climax of trouble, which has been growing.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

EL PASO, February 6.—The treasury department, at the request of the department of justice at Washington, has instructed the immigration authorities along the Mexican line to watch out for Jack Johnson, the pugilist, and to arrest him if he can be caught on American soil.

Johnson is booked to fight a championship battle at Durango, Mexico, on March 6, with Wladimir, and it is thought that he may attempt to reach the Mexican border city by way of the United States.

Johnson, who has been living in Paris, is a fugitive from justice, having been indicted by a federal grand jury in Chicago on a "white slave" charge. Johnson jumped a twenty-thousand-dollar bond and escaped into Canada, going from there to Europe.

HONOLULU FEDERAL BUILDING MEASURE SOON WILL BE LAW

House and Senate Committees Conferring To Adjust Differences Over Congressional Bill

REPRESENTATIVE BURNETT TELLS OF SITE PURCHASE

One Location In City Proper, the Other Quarter Mile Out, Kuhio Explained

By Ernest G. Walker (Mail Special to The Advertiser.)

WASHINGTON, January 25.—The Honolulu Public Building Bill is on the way to enactment into law. The house passed it some days ago and the senate conferees have already taken up and adjusted differences between the house and senate over that bill. Those senate conferees are Swanson, of Virginia, Martine of New Jersey, and Warren of Wyoming. The senate and house conferees have already held meetings but at this writing have not agreed fully upon the bill. One of the difficulties appears to be compensation for those who paid for the opening of the street through the site. However, it is to be expected that the bill will be agreed to and forwarded to President Wilson shortly, so that the activities for a new public building at Honolulu may be resumed again soon.

The limit of cost for the new site is fixed in the house bill at $250,000. This was put in after considerable debate. Representative Stafford of Wisconsin, raised the point that if no limit was placed upon the cost of the site, officials might buy a very expensive site and then come back to congress and say that the limit of $1,325,000 heretofore fixed by congress for the building and the site is inadequate.

Not Profit To Treasury

Representative Burnett of Alabama, chairman of the Public Buildings Committee, said in a little speech to the house that the bill did "not propose to take a cent out of the treasury. In 1906," he continued, "there was an authorization for the construction of a customhouse, courthouse, postoffice and various other public buildings in Hawaii—in Honolulu. A site was purchased for $104,000. It was ascertained that this was inadequate in size and an appropriation or authorization was made for the purpose of enlarging it. It was found that it was going to cost so much; and there were so many intricacies in regard to the matter that it was determined they could not do that and still construct the building within the authorization. Therefore this bill is for the purpose of selling the old site at $150,000, turning that money into the treasury, and then buying a new site and to construct the building out of the authorization. So it is really a net profit to the Public Treasury."

There was considerable discussion about the propriety of placing a limitation on the sum that could be expended for the new site. Chairman Burnett said Delegate Kalaniano'ole was on the floor and, perhaps, could give some accurate information.

Kuhio 'Locates' Sites

"The treasury department has not given any estimate of the cost of these sites," replied the Delegate. "There are now two sites being considered by the treasury department, one in the city proper and another about a quarter of a mile out of the city. The cost of which I believe can be purchased for about $200,000. These are the so-called Sprinkles site and the Irwin site."

Representative Stafford wanted to know whether the Delegate had any objection to placing a limit of cost on the site, either $200,000 or $250,000. "I do not think it would be well to limit the cost of the site to $200,000," the Delegate replied, "as I cannot say with any degree of accuracy that that amount would be sufficient to purchase either of the sites under consideration."

"The gentleman is acquainted with the practice in these public building propositions," suggested Representative Stafford, "of limiting the appropriation for the site, and then the amount of the appropriation for the public building. I have no objection whatever to the erection of this public building, but I can see that if a public building is to be erected there should be some limit upon the site."

Delegate Accepts 'Raise'

"In this case," said the Delegate, "I do not think it would be well to limit the cost of the site, inasmuch as the cost of the building and the site must come within the appropriation."

Representative Ashbrook of Ohio, demanded to know whether "the Delegate accepts the raise," and with a smile Representative Stafford announced that "the Delegate always accepts everything that is right and proper."

Chairman Burnett admitted that he thought it would be a very wise provision to put a limitation on the cost of the site, but that he did not believe it will cost that. He did not believe it will exceed $200,000 but out of abundant caution, in order that they may have ample funds, we have no objection."

PROPERTY OF KUHIO SOLD FOR $32,500

Portion of Fine Uluniu Tract Disposed of and Will Be Subdivided

(From Saturday Advertiser.)

All that portion of the Uluniu tract, fronting on Kalakaua avenue and extending from Aiea to within a short distance of the residence of Delegate Kalaniano'ole, passed into the control of Percy M. Pond yesterday morning.

The land covers an area of about six acres and comprises the greater portion of the Waikiki residence property of trustee Kuhio. The sale price is reported to have been $32,500.

The purchase was made from the Kapalani Estate and the sale was made through the Waterhouse Trust Company.

Mr. Pond announced yesterday that he will begin immediately to subdivide the tract, grading streets and building sidewalks. The lots, which will be sold through the Waterhouse Trust Company will be placed on the market without delay. It is planned to sell them at prices ranging from $900 upwards.

The land comprising the Uluniu tract was formerly the home of royalty, King Kalakaua and Queen Kapiliolani having made it their home during the height of Kalakaua's reign. Later it passed into control of Prince David and Prince Kapiolani as a portion of the Kapiolani Estate.

The property is looked upon as among the most desirable holdings in Waikiki, fronting as it does the Moana Hotel and within easy access of the beach.

Percy M. Pond, purchaser of the property, is well known in Honolulu, having handled the sale of the Beach Walk lots, all of which have been disposed of.

POLICE DRAGNET GETS J. T. SCULLY

Together With John McGrath, He Is Held In Connection With 'Opium Holdup'

(From Saturday Advertiser.)

John T. Scully and John McGrath, who have been under suspicion by the police for the past two days as principals in a conspiracy to rob Chinese by pretending to have stamped opium for sale, were arrested yesterday morning and charged with robbery.

Scully and McGrath's alleged connection with the traffic in opium and this port is now under investigation by the federal authorities and startling and sensational disclosures are expected within the next few days. Scully and McGrath were liberated shortly after their arrest on a trifling $500 bail each, furnished by Isaac Cockett.

Immunity to Chinese

The publication of the facts in yesterday morning's Advertiser of the workings of the local opium ring created a sensation in the underworld, and, according to the police, strenuous efforts are being made in certain quarters to intimidate the Chinese witnesses in the case by telling them that they are equally guilty with those who are arrested and suspicion on account of opium being a contraband, and that they are liable under the federal act. It was reported last night the witnesses have been guaranteed immunity by the federal authorities, and following disclosures which will be made today, a number of arrests are expected.

The police claim to have a strong case against Scully and McGrath and say that after the matter of the robbery of $700 is disposed of they will be turned over to the federal authorities, to whom they will have to answer on several charges of trafficking in opium.

Lewis Is Released

Henry Lewis, whom the police claim was the driver of the automobile which played an important part in the Wednesday night holdup, was released from the police station yesterday morning on a writ of habeas corpus, petitioned for in Judge Ashford's court. Lewis was released on his own recognizance until this morning, when a further hearing will be held.

The police have several witnesses who are positive that young Lewis was the driver of the automobile which was instrumental in the carrying out of this sensational robbery.

PARIS, February 6.—The Belgian government at Boulogne has addressed a protest to the neutral Powers over the German action in annulling the exequaturs of the consuls of the neutral Powers throughout Belgium. The protest states that the acceptance of the German action by the neutral Powers would be a formal recognition of the annexation of Belgium by Germany, an annexation that rests only upon the power of Germany to hold the territory's now occupied by her armies. This power the Belgian government disputes.

Nicholas Sees His Warriors On Offensive

With Appearance of Czar At Battlefront Slavs Make Vigorous Attacks On Germans

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, February 6.—Coincidentally with the appearance of Czar Nicholas at the front, the Russians have taken up a vigorous offensive against the Germans throughout Poland, and have scored success after success, capturing a number of positions, with prisoners and guns. They have crossed the Bzura river west of Warsaw and made such decided advances in driving the Germans out of their positions that they now threaten the flank of von Hindenburg's main army.

SLAVS CROSS BZURA

The official dispatches received last night from Petrograd said:

"The combats before the Bzura and Rawka rivers continue. We have crossed the Bzura near its mouth and captured the German positions at Dakhova, dislodging the enemy from their bridgehead."

"In the vicinity of Barjimow, Goumine and Woloslawowska we have alternated with the enemy in attacks under cover of artillery."

"West of the Nida we have repulsed the Austro-German attacks, and at Onjuk we have taken three thousand prisoners."

CEAR ON BATTLEFRONT

"Southeast of Onjuk the enemy is in large force and is pressing as hard. The Emperor arrived yesterday at headquarters at the front."

An earlier dispatch from the Russian capital said:

"We are making progress in East Prussia."

"On the left bank of the Vistula, near Borjimow, fighting continues of an extraordinarily ferocious character. The Germans have pushed forward seven compactly massed divisions with a hundred batteries of artillery, along a front of six miles."

GERMANS ON DEFENSIVE

"On Wednesday our bayonet counter charges compelled the enemy to assume the defensive. We captured Goumine and Woloslawowska and stormed two lines of trenches near Borjimow after two days of furious fighting."

"In the Carpathians we have retired two points from the mountains to selected positions after ten day-long engagements. The enemy's offensive here is very strong."

RUSSIAN ATTACKS REPULSED

The Berlin dispatches yesterday were brief as to the eastern situation.

"Strong Russian attacks in Poland, east of Bolimow and in East Prussia have been repulsed," said the official German statement.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

CHICAGO, February 6.—Consternation was caused among the members of the Chicago Country Club yesterday when it was learned that Angelo Lunardi, who has been watchman at the club for the past several months, has been declared a leper by the health authorities. Lunardi arrived in America last June from Genoa, to which port he will be deported.

SITUATION AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, February 6.—President Wilson and his cabinet yesterday discussed the possible effects of the German proclamation declaring the English Channel and the North Sea as in the war zone upon neutral shipping, especially American shipping or of shipping engaged in trade between the United States and other neutral nations.

As the official text of the proclamation has not yet reached the state department no conclusions were reached as to what diplomatic steps the United States may find itself compelled to take.

Administration leaders and Washington officialdom in general are deeply concerned at the German proclamation, which is regarded as one of the most serious developments of the war. It is declared that it will probably hasten concerted action among the neutral nations in an endeavor to obtain a definition of their rights.

No individual protest by the United States is likely, since none was made when the North Sea was first sown with mines.

SAILINGS WILL CONTINUE

NEW YORK, February 5.—The principal shipping companies say that the German proclamation will have no effect on their business. Sailings will be carried out as usual on American, British, French and Dutch lines.

BRITAIN SAYS GERMAN SHIP OF STATE IS ON BEAM END

London Papers Declare That Berlin Threat Against British Shipping Discloses Situation In Germany As Result of Blockade

KAISER'S PROCLAMATION CHARACTERIZED 'POMPOUS'

Cabinet In Washington Considers Decree From Neutral Viewpoint While New York Interests Make No Change In Sailings

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, February 6.—"The German ship of state is on her beam end," says the London Telegraph editorially, and that expression voices the general opinion held throughout England regarding the situation in Germany disclosed by the threats against British shipping and the explanations made therefor by the German chancellor. The reply of Great Britain is one of exultation.

The general opinion of the press is that this latest move on behalf of the Kaiser is a proof of the economic pressure being brought against Germany by the British navy.

PROCLAMATION ONLY 'BLUFF'

British officials generally declare that the German proclamation is only a bluff, the threat contained in it being impossible of execution. No alarm is manifested in official circles.

The best reply to Germany, and the one most reassuring to the general public, comes from the marine underwriters, who announce that there will be very little change in the premiums asked for war risks.

The Westminster Gazette, regarded as the organ of the administration, calls the German proclamation a pompous decree, which "adds nothing to what has been done or attempted since the war began. If the Germans turn pirates it is merely because they are unsuccessful in legitimate war."

NEUTRAL SHIPPING CAUTIONED

The official proclamation of the German naval staff, which yesterday followed the notification sent out to neutral Powers, said:

"England is about to ship numerous troops and large quantities of war material to France. Against these English transports we will proceed with all means of warfare at our disposal."

"Neutral shipping is earnestly cautioned not to approach the northern or northwestern coasts of France. The best route to the North Sea is around Scotland."

Regarding this, the imperial chancellor, Count von Bethmann-Hollweg, to the correspondent of a Danish paper, is reported as saying:

"England treats us like a besieged fortress. She wants to starve to death seventy millions of people in the barbarian fashion. The neutral have not protested against England's action and must take the consequences. Naturally we are not going to die of famine."

BRITISH BLOCKADE SEVERE

From this, the British press infers that the blockade has been even more severe than was supposed.

The on-line German press, say Berlin reports, greets with exultant praise the German proclamation of a war zone around the British Isles. The newspapers there say that the plan will turn England's weapon against herself and "destroy the yoke under which the world has suffered for centuries. They say it will accomplish a historical mission."
